

North Carolina Cosmetic Arts Candidate Transition FAQs

Q 1 – When will Prometric no longer be accepting/processing applications?

A – As of November 15th at 12:01am, Prometric will no longer accept or process applications.

Q 2 – When will testing for NICNC stop at Prometric?

A – January 8, 2023, will be the final testing day.

Q 3 - If my application has been submitted and approved, how long will I have to schedule my theory and/or practical exam?

A - Prometric will have limited available testing dates up until January 9, 2023. Seats are based on a first come first serve basis and will be limited due to the upcoming holiday schedule. If there are no seats available, you will need to check the availability with the new vendor.

Q 4 - What happens to my approved application once testing stops with Prometric?

A – You will receive a refund and your application information will be forwarded to the new vendor.

Q 5 - If I mailed/submitted a paper application and my application has not been processed before the deadline date of November 15th, what happens to my application?

- a. As long as your application is post marked before November 15th it will be processed. If post marked November 15th or after, your application and payment will be returned to you.
- b. If paid by check, your check and application will be returned.
- c. If paid by money order, your money order will be deposited, and you will receive a refund via check along with your application.

Q 6 – If my application was started but not completed or approved, what will happen to my pending application and fee?

A – Your fee will be refunded, and you will need to complete an application with the new vendor. Refund processing will start the week of December 5th and will take up to 2-4 weeks.

Q 7 - If I submitted an application and it was approved prior to November 15th and I am unable to schedule or choose to not schedule either my written and/or practical exam before January 9, 2023, will I receive a refund? How much will that refund be?

A - You will be refunded your unused exam fees after January 9th. Written - $79.00, Practical – $94.00, Both Written and Practical - $173.00 If you have taken one of the exams, written or practical, you will not receive a refund for those fees.

Q 8 – When can I expect to receive my refund?
